WEBSITE Development

In the website industry, web development tends to be classified as the coding and writing of the HTML or source code – rather than the creation of the look and feel of the website.

Our web development team looks beyond the visual effect of the website and takes other factors into consideration such as the user-friendliness of the website, ease of maintenance and adhering to the best practices and website development standards. We also take into account the search engine friendliness and optimisation of the website and of course, we make sure that the website serves and meets its main objectives. India Tax Info Pvt. Ltd. is an information technology company dedicated to business success through long-term relationships with our clients and staff. Our expertise is providing market-oriented and web-based IT solutions.

Our services including corporate Website Design and Development, Content Management System (CMS), eCommerce Solution, Web Application Development, Search Engine Optimization (SEO), Social Media Optimization (SMO), Pay Per Click Management and Email Marketing.

NEXT GENERATION CONCEPT

WEBSITE Development

The approach to the term application development has changed since last some years since the applications has been migrated from traditional Client /Server based application to internet based application.

With internet growing so fast and mobility being a key factor in any business. Internet has changed the way the applications are developed in this new era. With the changing technology and flexible client demand team Concept India Tax Info Pvt. Ltd. has also mastered its tools and method to adapt new technology and new scripting language which enables us to satisfy our offshore development partners flexible needs. We have IT skills of international standards and we develop sites compatible with W3C and CSS 2.0 When you engage us to make the web work for you, we first develop a web strategy and then work in consultation with you, step by step to implement your unique web strategy to your fullest satisfaction. We work with you to determine the focus, purpose and style for your site.

E-Business & Systems Integration

E-Business allows companies to link their internal and external processes effectively and efficiently. They also work closely with suppliers, customers and partners to better satisfy their needs and expectations leading to improvements in overall business performance.

E-Business integrates business processes like sales, CRM, cataloguing, support, production, purchasing and accounting seamlessly from the existing Business Management Systems to the web. By embracing e-Business, your company can cut costs, increase sales, generate more leads and improve service.

Our aim is to assist and advise businesses on how to take advantage of the web technologies that help them work smarter, not harder. Online Innovations tailor e-Business solutions to perfectly fit their brand and their clients – making it possible for them to do e-Business on the internet with confidence that their online goals will be met.

Web Application Development

A web application is a software application that the user interacts with via a browser. Web applications are growing in popularity because they can be updated and maintained without having to distribute or install software on computers and because of their cross-platform compatibility.

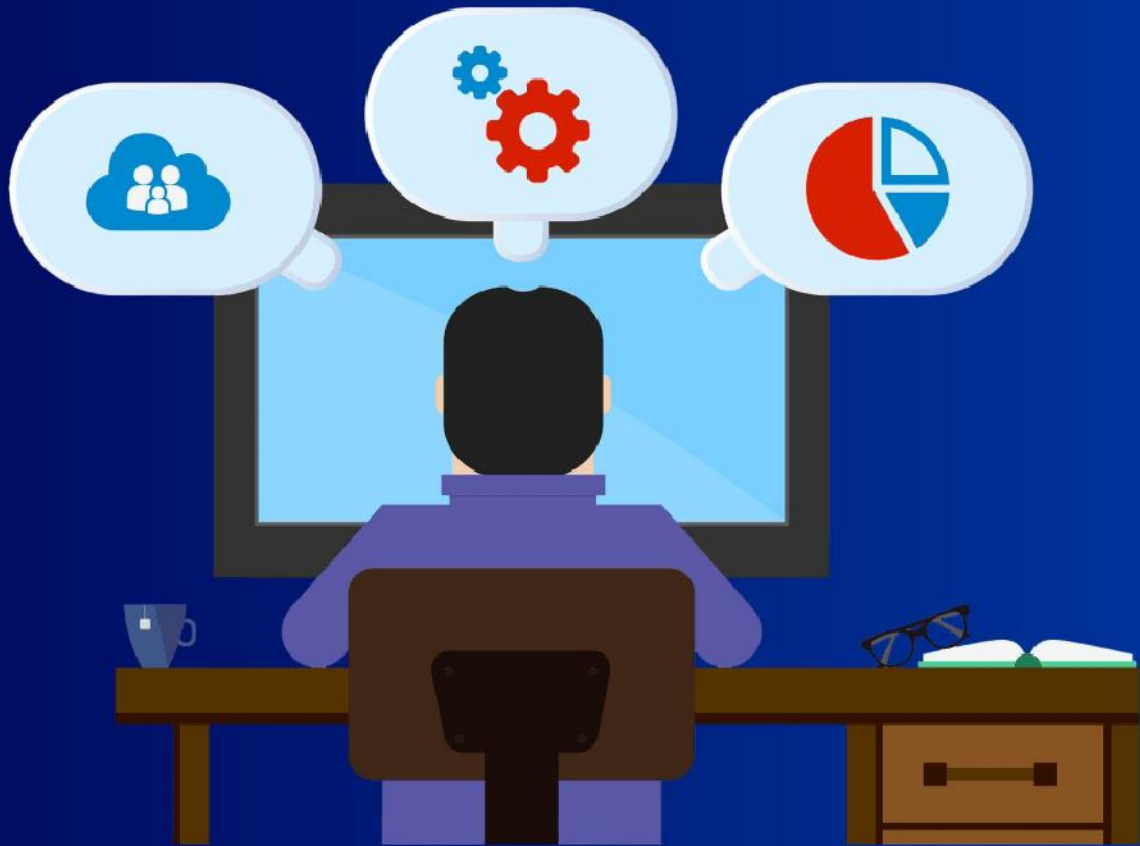

At Online Innovations, we look past the development of stand-alone software applications. We specialise in taking and making your business processes online.

Web Application & Software Specialists

The software developers at Online Innovations are passionate about the technology that is driving the modern world. They are all qualified professionals with expert knowledge of database technologies and programming languages such as PHP, ASP & .NET, ActionScript 2.0 and 3.0 and HTML.

Software Development Experience

Since our establishment in 2009, our team have acquired a wealth of experience by being exposed to (what must be) all of the key business processes – from small to enterprise level businesses. Our team makes sure to share these experiences with customers so that they can take comfort in the fact that new projects are built on the success of previous projects.

Online Innovations can offer you comprehensive online solutions which incorporate the latest technology. We can also develop from the simplest website to the most complex web-based applications and recommend the configuration that best meets your objectives.

Together We...

At India Tax Info Pvt. Ltd. we believe that in a competitive economy, it is essential that technology-based companies partner each other to allow each company to focus on core strengths while still offering functionality desired by our respective customers. The Business Alliance Partner program at India Tax Info Pvt. Ltd. is intended to accomplish all of the above with the minimum amount of negotiation over details. Because our technology has been built on open standards and is functionally rich, we have a number of partners who have used our technology in their solutions to provide the most competitive product possible to a segment of the market. We have other partners who are primarily interested in meeting the demands of a specific customer project and find our technology desirable to compete most effectively for a services-oriented bid.
